Presenting Laboratoire Dr Renaud, the exceptional collection of highly efficacious, state-of-the-art skincare products that brilliantly combines natural ingredients with what may be the most advanced dermacosmetic science available today.

Founded in France in 1947 by Dr Louis Raymond Renaud, the first dermatologist to undertake skincare product research, Laboratoire Dr Renaud became a Canadian company, based in Montreal, in 1963. From one of the most advanced research laboratories in global skincare, the research team at Laboratoire Dr Renaud has developed more than 500 products and dozens of targeted collections.

With an emphasis on skin health, prevention and repair, Laboratoire Dr Renaud has developed exceptional products and ingenious protocols to effectively manage every skin type and condition from sensitive and acne-prone to skin that's dehydrated and vaso-reactive. The brand's anti-aging programs target all aging related skin concerns from first signs through the particular concerns of mature skin. An exceptional range of advanced serums, treatment and sun care products put Laboratoire Dr Renaud at the cutting edge of modern skincare.

Highly personal in their approach, Laboratoire Dr Renaud believes that aestheticians, with their time tested skincare knowledge and expertise, are invaluable in ensuring consumers are using the right products for them, and using them properly. Laboratoire Dr Renaud is available exclusively at more than 1,000 aesthetician salons and spas across Canada.

Q&A WITH ISABELLE VILLENEUVE

Director of Research and Development and Global Strategic Projects

With all the skincare available today, what makes Laboratoire Dr Renaud special?

We have an exceptional and very creative team working in our lab and that results in an uncommon degree of innovation. We're very focused on science and we pay close attention to new technology but we don't follow trends the way the department store brands tend to do. We're focused on what customers tell us they need. Also, we're always refining our products. Because Laboratoire Dr Renaud is available through aestheticians and at spas, etc., we have the constant feedback of the aestheticians, people who really are skin and skincare experts. We can respond much more immediately to customer needs.

Do you have a philosophy or specific view about skincare at Laboratoire Dr Renaud?

Something we know is that each skin is unique, far more so than the beauty industry acknowledges. It's why women have so many products that aren't right for them and that ultimately they don't use. This is why we developed our in-depth analysis tools that we train aestheticians to use. We are serious about every Laboratoire Dr Renaud customer getting results and dramatically improving her skin.

How do you analyze someone's skincare needs and recommend the right products?

It's multi-faceted. We ask her questions about her skin: How it reacts to various conditions and types of products, her habits and lifestyle, any concerns or medications and allergies, and we help her determine exactly what it is that she would like to correct or avoid. We've developed analysis tools that our aestheticians use to look at the skin and see what the naked eye cannot yet see such as sun damage and brown spots – it tells us where the skin is going and we can develop a plan of attack. And we've devised a little booklet for our customers that makes understanding how to care for their skin and how to use Laboratoire Dr Renaud products very, very easy.
